Written Response

Please provide a written response to the following three essay prompts (200 words each maximum):

- Describe a topic in your discipline area (math/chemistry/biology) that you were excited to learn about and why.
- Describe an important experience from your own education and discuss how this experience will inform your efforts to engage secondary students in learning.
- Noyce scholars teach in “high-need” school districts that are often located in low-income communities. Why do you want to teach in a high-need school? How are you prepared for the opportunities and challenges of teaching in such a school and in what areas do your knowledge and experience need strengthening?
