

UNIVERSITY OF MOUNT SAINT VINCENT

Notice of Availability of Institutional and Financial Aid Information

Institutional Information:

Individuals interested in more information about the University of Mount Saint Vincent are encouraged to explore the website. Most of the undergraduate information can be found at:

<https://mountsaintvincent.edu/admission/>

Much of the information about adult, professional, and graduate programs can be found at:

<https://mountsaintvincent.edu/graduate-adult/graduate-programs/areas-of-study/>

We encourage you to explore our website, to ask questions, and to seek additional information as desired either from the Office of Admission for your program of interest, or directly from the program or department office itself.

Financial Aid Information:

The majority of financial aid information for UMSV students can be found on our website:

<https://mountsaintvincent.edu/admission/financial-aid/>

Our Financial Aid Booklet is aimed towards traditional undergraduate students:

Additional information can be found on our website as presented above, and in the Consumer Information section of our website.

The Consumer Information also points students to the federal source of financial aid, which starts at studentaid.gov and contains a considerable amount of information. That site is also the starting point for completing the basic financial aid application, called the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (or FAFSA), specified for each individual academic year, such as 2025/2026. Students interested in federal grants or loans, and in most cases for institutional aid, must start by completing the FAFSA.

Information about financial aid is also available in many programs' offices, in the Curry Center on the second floor of Founders Hall, and in the Office of Financial Aid on the second floor of Seton Hall.
